Kampahire assists many NPOs in filling challenging positions.

Founded in 2006 in Zürich, Switzerland, the Round Table on Responsible Soy Association (RTRS) is a global multi-stakeholder non-profit organization.

Our mission at RTRS is to promote the growth of production, trade, and use of responsible soy through cooperation with players in and relevant to the soy value chain, from production to consumption in an open multi-stakeholder dialogue including producers, suppliers, manufacturers, retailers, financial institutions, civil society organizations and others. Responsible soy is economically viable, socially beneficial, and environmentally appropriate.

RTRS also sets the standards for responsible soy and chain of custody. Particularly the RTRS Standard for Responsible Soy Production scheme ensures that RTRS soy not only meets the highest environmental criteria (including a guarantee of third party-verified zero deforestation and zero conversion) but also a wide-reaching set of social and labor requirements. It is based on five principles: Legal Compliance and Good Business Practices; Responsible Labor Conditions; Responsible Community Relations; Environmental Responsibility and Good Agricultural Practices.

Since joining the UN Global Compact in 2014, and in accordance with and based on the above statements and all related actions and initiatives carried out by the Association, RTRS has been fully committed across-the-board to its sustainability initiatives and its 10 principles grouped in 4 areas: Human Rights, Labor Practices, Environment and Corruption. We will continue to promote these principles in our operations and within the soy and corn value chain.
