

Our vision as a pioneer in organic cotton is to revitalize the soil and to preserve and strengthen biodiversity. Through organic farming and related development projects, we strive to sustainably improve the living conditions of farming families in India and Tanzania. We create space for smallholder development and fulfilment of human rights of farming families. We provide a platform for holistic development and lived social responsibility for all stakeholders.

To lead and further develop projects in India we are looking for a

Programme Officer (30-40%)

Responsibilities:

- You manage and steer projects implemented in India on farmer education and extension services in organic agriculture, local business development as well as our school programme. You are in close dialogue with our local bioRe® project partners and support them throughout the project cycle.
- You contribute significantly to fundraising for the projects by identifying potential donor foundations, build relationships, submit applications and ensure transparent reporting.
- As part of a small team, you contribute to the overall management and administration of the organisation.

Your profile:

- Master degree in natural science or education; a postgraduate degree in development cooperation is an asset.
- Several years of relevant work experience in International Cooperation in the field of agriculture, local business development and/or education. You are motivated to acquire knowledge in the respective other fields.
- Substantial experience in project cycle management and familiarity with state-of-the-art approaches and tools.
- Proven fundraising skills.
- Cultural sensitivity and ability to communicate with diverse stakeholders.
- Full professional proficiency in German and English, French is an asset.

We offer:

- You are part of a dynamic and motivated team dedicated to organic agriculture and human rights.
- You work in a multifaceted position at the interface of philanthropic engagement and the development of lasting value chains for farmer families.
- You lead exciting projects with great personal responsibility and room for further development.
- You enjoy a modern and family-friendly working environment.

Were we able to raise your interest? We look forward to receiving your letter of motivation, your CV and your work certificates by July 29, 2021 to monika.tobler@biorestiftung.ch. For further questions, please contact Monika Tobler, CEO: + 41 41 798 32 32
